Building and Garden Lots,

CONTIGUOUS to, and at a small distance from the city, to be sold at the coffee house in Second street, on Wednesday the 20th of March, at 6 o'clock in the evening, containing from about 1-4 of an acre to about 4 acres each. The small lots fronting on Vine and Callowhill streets, on the west side of Schuylkill Second street, and the large lots containing whole or half or quarter squares, some of them bounded on the west by Schuylkill and the upper ferry road including some fine quarry lots on Schuylkill: the whole containing about 140 acres, and formerly known by the name of Springsbury; bounded on the north by Francis street, extending from the Ridge road to Schuylkill, crossing the canal, on which several of the lots will give fronts.

The situation of many of the large lots is on high ground, commanding beautiful views of the Schuylkill, supposed to be sufficiently detached to escape any unfortunate disorder which may be prevalent in the city.—The terms will be made known at the time of the sale.

N. B. Maps of the lots are fixed up at the middle and upper ferries on Schuylkill, at Seybert's Tavern, in Second street, Northern Liberties; at Ogdens tavern in Chesnut street, and at the coffee house.

The convenience of stone so near the premises will prove very advantageous to purchasers.

CONNELLY & Co. auct'rs.

Postponement.

☞ The uncommon severity of the weather having prevented many persons from viewing the lots above described, the sale is postponed until Saturday the 20th April next, when it will be held on the premises, at 2 o'clock in the afternoon.

The terms will be cash for those lots which are 50 feet, and 49 and an half feet front, and for those of a larger size, one half the cash to be paid down and the other half in six months from the day of sale.

march 20

TAKE NOTICE,

THAT I am to be sold on such terms, that the purchaser need not advance any cash, unless he pleases, till it is earned by my services, provided no accident happens me; or, if you please, I am to be farmed out for two years, and not less. I am a bright bay, full 15½ hands high, of noble descent, my name is TRIMMER—I was got by Hall's imported horse Eclipse, my dam, purchased by Doctor Hall, was got by the imported horse Slim; my grand dam was got by Old Figure; my great grand dam by Tasker's Othello out of Selima, &c. &c. as will more fully appear by William Doyle's attested certificate who raised me. My character as a racer is well established; I won the colt's purse at Bladensburg of twenty guineas; I won a fifty guinea purse at Baltimore, a fifty guinea purse at Annapolis and a fifty guinea purse at Hagerstown. I never lost a race but the last I ran at Alexandria, which was owning to my being badly shod, as I lost all my plates before I got in. I am in fine plight, found in every respect; my offspring are in great repute, some of which are now in training for the turf—procure me good stands and entertainment and I am able to earn one thousand dollars per annum.

Any person inclining to buy or rent may know the terms by applying to John Carnan (Lovehall) Cecil county Maryland, eight miles south of Elkton.

(The plaintive and affected stile of Charlotte Smith is familiar, it is supposed, to most readers. Criticism has frowned upon the verbose grief of a sobbing poetess, and wit has laughed at "the defects of her visage," and "the trappings and suits of her woe." We insert the following as a pleasant introduction to an attack soon to be made upon the above sighing sonnetteer from the Shop of Colon and Spondee.)

SONNETS,

Attempted in the manner of "Contemporary Writers."

PENSIVE, at eve, on the hard world I mus'd,
And my poor heart was sad: so at the moon
I gazed—and sigh'd, and sigh'd!—for, ah! how soon
Eve darkens into night. Mine eye perus'd
With fearful vacancy, the dampy grass,
Which wept and glitter'd in the paly ray:
And I did pause me on my lonely way,
And mus'd me on those wretched ones, who pass
O'er the black heath of sorrow. But alas!
Most of myself I thought! when it befel,
That the sooth spirit of the breezy wood
Breath'd in mine ear—"All this is very well;
But much of one thing is for no thing good."
Ah! my poor heart's inexplicable swell!

To SIMPLICITY.

O! I do love thee, meek Simplicity!
For of thy lays the lulling simpleness
Goes to my heart, and soothes each small distress,
Distress tho' small, yet haply great to me!
'Tis true, on lady Fortune's gentlest pad
I amble on; yet, tho' I know not why,
So sad I am! but should a friend and I
Grow cool and miff, O! I am very sad!
And then with sonnets and with sympathy
My dreamy bosom's mystic woes I pall;
Now of my false friend plainly plaintively,
Now raving at mankind in general;
But whether sad or fierce, 'tis simple all,
All very simple meek SIMPLICITY!

On a ruined House in a romantic Country.

And this reft house is that the which he built,
Lamented Jack! and here his malt he pil'd,
Cautious in vain! These rats that squeak so wild,
Squeak, not unconscious of their father's guilt.

Did he not see her gleaming through the glade!
Belike, 'twas she, the maiden all forlorn,
What tho' she milk no cow with crumpled horn,
Yet, aye, she haunts the dale where erst she stray'd:

And, aye beside her stalks her amorous knight!
Still on his thighs their wonted brogues are worn,
And thro' those brogues, still tatter'd and betorn,
His hindward charms gleam an unearthly white;

As when thro' broken clouds at night's high noon
Peeps in fair fragments forth the full orb'd harvest moon!

DEFENCE OF THE

PURSUITS OF LITERATURE.

"Whoever indeed stands forward at such a perilous period as the present, with boldness, confidence, and an honest intention in the public service, with a name or without a name, known or unknown, is surely worthy of some regard, and I should think, of kindness. But when a gentlemen (without any interest, but that of every other subject in the country,) has devoted his time, fortune, and ability in the hope of being useful, it is but a common cause to rescue his memory from the gripe of injustice, and the fangs of malignity. When he has defended THE TRIPLE FORTRESS of religion, morality, and literature, from its foundation to the topmost battlements, must he be left on the field without the common honours of a common soldier? Because a few trumpery poetasters, half critics, jugglers in science, or indecent commentators are held forth and consigned to ridicule or contempt, as they have respectively deserved, must this work on the Pursuits of Literature be degraded and depreciated? I trust not. The public will never suffer such impotence and dulness, such under conjurors and journeymen astrologers, the Sidrophels and Wachums of the day, to read backward for them the great page of Literature, and declare the interpretation of it. When the sun is high in the heavens, who asks for subsidiary light?

"Literature indeed, at this hour, can hardly be divided from the principles of political safety. Satire also has a character, which she was never before called upon to assume. Sensum cælestii demissum traxit ab arce! She must now to operate with the other guardians, and watchful powers of the state in her degree.

"Such AN UNION is now demanded of the minds, the talents, and fortunes, of the souls and bodies, of all the inhabitants of Great Britain, as never before entered into the hearts of Englishmen to conceive. We must be preserved from the tyranny and power of France; from all her principles, and from all her arms, open or concealed, mental, moral, or political. I have pride and satisfaction in seeing, and feeling that we are all so convinced. We know we must die or defend ourselves from THE MONSTROUS REPUBLICK.

"Instat terribilis vivis; morientibus hæres;
"Nulla quies: oritur prædâ cessante libido;
"Divitibusque dies, et nox metuenda maritis;
"Emicat ad nutum stricto mucrone minister!

If we consider it from the commencement, it has threatened, devoted, and given over all it's victims to desolation, wretchedness, plunder and final death. BLOOD is the cement of the Republic of France.

"Some victims have bled for principle, others for example, some for funeral pomp, and some for a civic feast. Blood must flow. Each faction has delivered over its predecessors to death. The Priests of Reason hold their rites in the field of Mars. First, indeed, they soothe awhile their savageness with song and festival. But those are the preludes of sanguinary cruelty; the stops and pauses of their war-symphonies. With their laurel and cypress branches bound together and dipped in blood, they advance to the altar, and perform their abhorred lustration. The manes of all that is brave, and all that is ferocious, are invoked in their democratick incantations to reason and her republic.

Sævis opus est, et fortibus umbris;
Ipsa facit manes; HOMINUM MORS OMNIS IN USU EST.

"On the blood of their murdered monarch they have sworn hatred to tyranny; and they have established a directory. On the blood of innocence and virginity they have sworn to restore, and to protect the female dignity; and they have annulled the bond of marriage, and the charities of consanguinity. On the blood of their generals streaming on the scaffold, and on the blood of armies partially devoted by other generals in the day of battle, they have sworn to give honor, and encouragement to the defenders of the republic. Such are their decrees; such are their oaths registered in blood. All is contradiction with them, yet all is in action. Principles of the moment, principles of reflection, principles of desolation, principles of safety, all have had their hour; all have risen and fallen. Banishment and deportation have now superceded the axe of the guillotine, and the sabre of ruffian massacre. How long?—All changes with them: all, but the fixed lust of plunder, and aggrandizement, and the rooted hatred to the Christian Religion. To every government, and to every establishment in Europe they apply but one axiom, "WHATEVER IS, IS WRONG!"

"Whoever strives to resist such an adversary upon principle and reflection, with eloquence, or wisdom, or learning, in the robes of state, or in the vestments of religion or law, with arms in his grasp, or with well directed opulence, by counsel, by precept, or by example, must be numbered among the FRIENDS OF MAN.

"I am most serious in my words, and earnest in my thoughts. I have been instructed by these great events, to consider all actions as of some weight, and that nothing is now to be neglected, as wholly unimportant. If the efforts of the united genius, learning, poetry, and eloquence of a country can be directed with strength and discretion, in their proper and natural courses, we may yet have confidence. Enterprizes of great pith and moment will succeed, and a righteous security may be established. Consider for a moment what is the hope of bad men. The orator of Athens has declared 'Their hope of safety is placed IN THE EXCESS OF THEIR WICKEDNESS, AND INIQUITY ALONE.' The haunts, and caves, and tenements, and sculking huts of sophistry, anarchy, rebellion, democracy and jacobinism will at length be fully revealed, and finally, levelled and ruined. When the fountains of hallowed fire are once opened, and flowing with liquid purity in the silence of the night, the objects which darkness would conceal, are not only discovered, but destroyed.

"The force of France is indeed formidable; but HER PRINCIPLES, wherever they take root, and grow, and bear, are alone invincible. If we think otherwise, I fear we deceive ourselves, and the truth is not with us. France invites every European government to suicide. Her high priest (Voltaire) told her long ago, that no government could perish but by its own hand, and by its own consent to die. The government of Great Britain has given no such consent. Her King, her Nobles, her Commons, her Senators, her Statesmen, her Lawyers, her Artists, her Merchants, her Citizens, her Peasants, all maintain and declare with one voice, and with arms in their hands, "GREAT BRITAIN HAS GIVEN NO SUCH CONSENT." She has not lifted her arms against herself: she is willing and desirous to live. She has humbled herself before God the Judge of all, through the Great Mediator of humanity. She knows her strength, and has felt her infirmity; she is earnest for her preservation from her foes within and without; and having done all, and still committing herself, and her cause, to HIM who judgeth righteously, she hopes yet to stand.

"Whether the end of all things may be at hand; and what the decrees of Eternal Power, Wisdom, Justice, and Goodness may intend in the last resort, we acknowledge to be inscrutable. But we trust, it cannot be deemed an unwarrantable presumption, to suggest or to affirm, that, if the attributes of God are true; if man is his creature, and governed by his laws; the opposers of this overbearing, desolating, impious, and UNIVERSAL tyranny must be justified BEFORE HIM. As to us the inhabitants of Great Britain, if we would exist at all, we must be preserved AS WE ARE. Our constitution is not lost; and the ramparts we have raised around it, will maintain it entire. Our liberties are supported equally against arbitrary power, and against the engines of licentiousness and democracy. UPON US the destiny of Europe, and perhaps of the whole civilized world, ultimately depends. It seems placed in our hands: a fearful and an awful charge.

"Omnia Fata laborant,
Si quidquam mutare velis; UNOQUE SUB ICTU
STAT GENUS HUMANUM!"

Foreign Intelligence.

THE TAKING OF MINORCA.

From the London Gazette Extraordinary.

MONDAY, December 24.

Downing-street, Dec. 23.

Capt. Gifford, 1st aid-de-camp to Gen. the hon. Charles Stuart, arrived this afternoon at the office of the right hon. Henry Dundas, one of his majesty's principal secretaries of state, with a dispatch from the general, of which the following is a copy.

Cindadella, Nov. 18.

SIR,

I have the honor to acquaint you, that his majesty's forces are in possession of the island of Minorca, without having sustained the loss of a single man.

As neither commodore Duckworth or myself could procure any useful information relative to the object of the expedition at Gibraltar, it was judged adviseable to dispatch the Peterell sloop of war to cruise off the harbor of Mahon for intelligence; where after remaining a few days she joined the fleet near the Colombrites, without having made any essential discovery. So circumstanced, it was agreed to attempt a descent in the bay of Addaya, and the wind proving favorable on the 7th inst. a feint was made by the line of battle ships at Fornelles, and boats were assembled for that purpose under the direction of capt. Bowen, capt. Polden, and capt. Pressland: previous to the landing of the troops, a small battery at the entrance of the bay was evacuated, the magazines blown up, the guns spiked, and shortly after the first division, consisting of 800 men, was on shore. A considerable explosion to the westward indicated that the Spaniards had also abandoned the works at Fornelles. Nearly at the same moment 2,000 of the enemy's troops approached in several different directions, and threatened to surround this inconsiderable force, but were repulsed with some loss on the left, while the guns of the Argo checked a similar attempt on the right flank; and the post was maintained until the debarkation of the different divisions afforded the means of establishing a position from whence the enemy's troops would have been attacked with considerable advantage had they not retired in the beginning of the night.

The strength of the ground, the passes and the badness of the roads, in Minorca, are scarcely to be equalled in the most mountainous parts of Europe; and what increased the difficulty of advancing upon this occasion was the dearth of intelligence, for although near a hundred deserters had come in from the Swiss regiments, and affirmed that the remaining force upon the island exceeded 4,000 men, no particular account of the enemy's movements was obtained. Under this uncertainty, it was for a few minutes doubtful what measures to pursue, but as quickly determined to proceed by a forced march to Mercadel, and thereby separate the enemy force by possessing that essential pass, in the first instance, and from thence advancing upon his principal communication to either extremity of the island, justly depending upon commodore Duckworth's zeal and exertion, to forward from Addaya and Fornelles such supplies of provisions and ordnance stores as might favour subsequent operations.

To effect this operation, colonel Graham was sent with 600 men, and by great exertions arrived at Mercadel a few hours after the main force of the enemy had marched towards Cuidella, making several officers and soldiers prisoners, seizing various small magazines, and establishing his corps in front of the village.

The persevering labour of 150 seamen under the direction of lieutenant Buchannan, during the night, having greatly assisted the artillery in forwarding the battali n guns, the army arrived at Mercadel on the 9th, where, learning that Mehon was nearly evacuated, a disposition was instantly made to operate with the whole force in that direction, and colonel Paget detached under this movement with 300 men to take possession of the town; upon his arrival he summoned fort Charles to surrender, and made the lieutenant governor of the island, a colonel of artillery, and 160 men, prisoners of war, removed the boom obstructing the entrance of the harbour, and gave free passage to the Cormorant and Aurora frigates, which were previously sent by commodore Duckworth to make a diversion off that port.

But these were not the only advantages immediately resulting from this movement, it favored desertion, intercepted all stragglers, and enabled the different departments of the army to procure beasts of burthen for the further progress of his majesty's arms.

Having ascertained that the enemy's troops were throwing up works and entrenching themselves in front of Cindadella it was resolved to force their position on the night of the 13th instant, and preparatory to this attempt, colonel Paget with 200 men was withdrawn from Mahon; colonel Moncrief was sent forward with a detachment to Fevarias three light 12 pounders and a five and a half inch howitzer and 90 marines landed from the fleet; when in consequence of its having been communicated to commodore Duckworth, that four ships, supposed of the line, were seen between Majorca and Minorca, steering toward the last mentioned island, he decided to pursue them, requested that the seamen and marines might re-embark, and signified his determination of proceeding with all the armed transports to sea;—but weighing the serious consequences which would result to the army from the smallest delay on the one hand, and the advantages to be reasonably expected from a spirited attack on the other, it was thought adviseable to retain them with the army; and, on the 14th instant the whole force marched to Alpharuz, and from thence proceeded on the 15th to Jupot, colonel Moncrief's detachment moving in a parallel line on the Ferarias road to Mola Garaba.

The precautions and the appearance of two columns approaching the town, induced the enemy to retire from their new constructed defences within the walls of Cindadella; and in the evening of the same day a small detachment under captain Muter, was sent to take possession of the Torte den Quart; whereby the army was enabled to advance the 14th, apparently in three columns, upon Kane's the Ferarias, and Fornell's Roads, to the investment of the two at day break, occupying ground covered by the position the enemy had relinquished.

Thus stationed, in want of heavy artillery and every article necessary for a siege, it was judged expedient to summon the governor of Minorca to surrender; and the preliminary articles were immediately considered; doubts arising on the part of the enemy, whether the investing force was superior in number to the garrison, two batteries of three 12 pounders, and three five and a half inch howitzers were erected in the course of the following night within 800 yards of the troops formed in order of battle considerably to the right of Kane's Road, leaving the picquets to communicate between them and colonel Mocrief's post.

This line, partly real and partly imaginary, extended four miles in front of the enemy's batteries, from whence two 18 pound shot were immediately fired at the troops; but at a timely parley, and the distant appearance of the squadron, occasioned the cessation of hostilities, and renewed a negociation, which, through the address of major general Sir James St. Clair Erskine terminated in the annexed capitulation.

Four weeks salt provisions for the garrison, besides the enclosed list of the ordnance stores, were found in the town of Cindadella.

The assistance received from commodore Duckworth in forwarding the light artillery and provisions, greatly facilitated the rapid movements of the army; and I am happy in the opportunity of declaring my obligations to Lord Mark Kerr, and captain Caulfield; for the supplies they sent from Mahon, and their exertions to land two mortars which in the event of further resistance, might have proved of the utmost importance in securing the army, or compelling the enemy to surrender.

The support I have experienced from major general St. James St. Clair Erskine, brigadier generals Stuart and Oakes, the exertion of lieutenant colonel Stuart my adjutant general, and the zeal and spirit, and perseverance of both the officers and men of the different regiments under my command, have eminently contributed to the success of the expedition and authorise me to represent their services as highly deserving his majesty's most gracious approbation.

Captain Gifford, my first aid-de-camp, who is perfectly acquainted with every circumstance concerning the capitulation of Cindadella, and the reduction of the island of Minorca, will have the honor to deliver this dispatch.

I have the honor to be, &c.

(Signed) CHARLES STEWART.

The right honourable Henry Dundas.

VINES.

To the Gentlemen of Philadelphia.

AMONGST fruit trees, the superiority of the vine is universally acknowledged, and the reason why there are so few, and why those few bear so little fruit, is, that the plants are not properly cultivated.

That part of the culture of the vine which requires most experience and most care, is the pruning, for which the season is now arrived. The subscriber, who has to remain some days in the city, will with pleasure prune the vines (gratis) of any gentleman who will accept of his services, and who will send his address to him at Mr. Moutea's, No. 27, Sugar alley.——His long experience in the culture of the vine, and the extraordinary success of his vineyard at SPRING MILL, must be imagined, be a sufficient assurance, that this inestimable plant can never suffer under his hands.

FOSTSCRIPT.

Capt. Sells, of the sloop Sally Maria, in 16 days from St. Kitts, last from St. Thomas, arrived last evening. He sailed under convoy of the United States' brig Norfolk, capt. Williams, in company with 14 sail of American vessels.

One of the officers of the Norfolk informed captain Sells that a few days before, they had had an engagement with a French privateer of 14 guns, from St. Martins, in which they shot away her main-top-mast, and killed eight men, when she struck to the Norfolk; but that capt. Williams had not courage to board her. A representation of this fact being made to commodore Truxton, induced him to order capt. Williams home, that an investigation of his conduct might take place. The privateer put into St. Martins.

[As mysterious as the above may appear—coming from an officer of the Norfolk—must, we think, be true.]

Capt. Sells also informs that the day before he sailed, the Constellation's prize, l'Insurgente, dropped down to St. Kitts' watering place, preparatory to a cruise.

On Friday last, capt. Sells spoke in lat. 37, long. 74, the ship Collier, Norton, in 50 days from London—She was to stop at Norfolk, and then proceed for New-York.

Arrived sloop Revival, capt. Moss, 8 days from Savannah. Spoke, March 23, lat. 37 long. 75 the United States' sloop of war Baltimore, capt. Terry, 13 days from St. Kitts bound to Baltimore, who desired capt. Moss to mention him in the New-York papers.

HALIFAX, (N. C.) March 11.

Last week passed through this place, Elijah Cooper, a native of Dumfries in Virginia, who says he escaped on the 28th of December last, from Gaudaloupe, in company with a captain Arnold, of New-York, of the sch'r Highlander of 12 guns, 44 men, who was taken by the French privateer L'Esprit, of 15 guns, 168 men, after an engagement of 5 glasses, in which captain Arnold had 4 men killed and 6 wounded, and L'Esprit 25 killed. Cooper further says, that a great discrimination is made by the French in Gaudaloupe, between the British and American prisoners; the former being confined in the criminal's prison, a large commodious building, with a yard in which they are allowed to walk, with the benefit of a fine cistern of water, and many other conveniences; and the latter are confined in a solitary church, where they are locked up day and night, and obliged to devour the miserable pittance of 3 ounces of bad beef, raw, with 11 ounces of black bread; and compelled to work on the fortifications, under the controul of insolent and domineering black soldiers, who beat them frequently on the slightest pretences.

On the morning of the day the Insurgente was taken, she had been chased by two British frigates, and escaped by her fast sailing. She is described as a very fine frigate, copered, and having a number of brass guns and swivels mounted. She was not much damaged, but had a shot through her main-mast, another through her bowsprit, and several in the hull.

Soon after the Constellation went into St. Kitts. the Concorde British frigate passed near her, and gave Capt. Truxton three cheers.

On Saturday last, a boat loaded with flour, supposed near 500 barrels, coming down Schuylkill, struck on a rock—split in two, and immediately sunk. The boatman escaped by swimming, but a woman and child passengers were drowned.

ABRIDGMENT OF INCIDENTS.

FOREIGN.

AN account is given, though not with official signatures, of the assassination of Buonaparte and his council of French officers. A large proportion of mankind would rejoice to have these disturbers of nations put into "everlasting sleep." The events of the present time will serve to demonstrate to the common sense of mankind, that "the triumphs of liberty are seldom, if ever, those of the sword!"

The French army in Italy has seized upon almost all the property, houses, estates, &c. of the Romans, which they claim as the right of conquest. This is the uniform fruit of modern equality, liberty and the imprescriptible rights of man. What an excellent specimen of freedom! free from property, their own industry had procured! free to despair, to die!

When the French entered Alexandria in Egypt, to show great friendship to its inhabitants, Buonaparte delivered up the city to pillage and massacre for the space of four hours only! What a merciful and fraternal act this! To be murdered and robbed for the short period of four hours only, when the generous Sansculottes might have indulged themselves in this favorite employmeut as many days or weeks! There is do doubt the French are as good friends to the United States as they are to Italy, Egypt, Switzerland, Venice &c. What pity our government is not willing a French army should invade this country! Such cities as New-York, Boston, and Philadelphia would be delivered up to murder, robbery and ravishment not more than the period of a week, a mere point of duration! If the houses and estates of our farmers should be sold, in the justice of the magnanimous nation, in return they would be taught polite arts of dancing and good breeding and singing ca'ira! The conquest of this country is thus viewed by our patriotic democrats, as a kind of commercial treaty, by which the staple commodities of the United States, such as independence, property, order, morality and virtue will be exchanged for the staple of the French Republic, such as slavery, massacre, politeness, anarchy, bienseance, licentiousness, the abuse of this life and the disbelief of another!

The French have declared war against the kings of the two Sicilies and Sardinia. No doubt, this declaration originated in bowels of mercies, in love of justice and in the most sincere desires for peace! The discernment of the Directory ought to be commended; for they foresee that an exterior war is a much less evil than a civil one. Scarcely ever was there a nation before, which dreaded the return of external peace, as the greatest calamity which could befal it!

Spain seems to be in a situation similar to that, which preceded the French revolution. The court favorites are full of expences and licentiousness.—From the extreme rigidity of morals and religion; it is flying to the other extreme of total infidelity.—Where so lately reigned the horrors of the inquisition, there the property of the church is sold at auction.

Personal merit has wound the everliving laurel around the brow of admiral Nelson, the favorite son of Britania. He has been actually in 120 battles with the enemies of his country. He has lost his right eye and right hand. The ardent expressions of patriotism fall with better grace from such mutilated heroes than from wooden sword bearers and Virginian slave drivers!

DOMESTIC.

Mr. LYON is not expelled from Congress. Only four more than half voted against him. The Constitution requires two thirds. None of the members of the New-England states voted in his favor, excepting three of Massachusetts, Skinner, Freeman and Varnum—Fearing least Mr. Lyon should not be released from prison on account of wanting money, a democratic society in Stamford, Connecticut, voted to contribute six pence a member for this patriotic sufferer!—Mr. Haswell, ever eager to do honor to his hero, gives us repeated accounts of boys being released from school to make speeches to Lyon and immortalize his pure fame. The laurels, gathered from this quarter, must indeed be both young and green. If they cannot confer honor on the object in view, they may, at least, serve to intimate that they are either born democrats or are promising pledges of emulating parental virtues!—President Adams seem to be making another attempt to negociate with the French Republic. Mr. Murray, Mr. Elsworth & Mr. Henry, have been nominated by the Executive. The continued spoliations, however, are no good omen of the success of any further nogotiation. A truce with an enemy, who will keep no measures, is as insecure as dishonorable. The French Directory disclaim the idea of spending much time in such matters as making treaties; it is certain they spend as little time in keeping them! "Punica fides!"
